770*

New South Wales Prize Exhibitors medal, 1862 (London), in gold (76mm) struck in nearly pure gold (23.5ct) (12oz / 365gm) by W.Kullrich, awarded as a special prize by the New South Wales Government for the best spun yarn from NSW grown wool to Joseph Craven of Dole Mill, Thornton, Yorkshire, inscribed on edge 'Joseph Craven. Fabric'. Probably the largest Australian Award medal in gold. In original case, nearly FDC and excessively rare.

$25,000

Ex Spink Australia Sale 3 (lot 106). At the time of the award the French lodged a protest claiming that the Bradford entries of Craven could only have been made in France and had been smuggled across to England. To produce the medal to the specific requirements set down by the N.S.W. Government proved costly and difficult according to newspaper accounts. The cost came to over 200 just to make the medal. Together with original newspaper cuttings.

771*

Ballaarat Cricket Club, 1862, handcrafted medal in silver (78mm star shape), a buckled garter imposed on a six pointed star with an early fire engine in high relief being the centre piece, a fireman's helmet and fire fighting implements in the triangular points of the star which is framed with a fine ornamental border, with loop mount and suspension bar, engraved on obverse 'We Strive to Save', and on reverse 'Presented / to / S.Dempster / by the / Ballaarat Cricket Club / as / Winner / of the / Firemen's Race / 26. Decr. 1862'. An interesting and important item of Australia. Extremely fine and very rare.

Ex Spink Australia Sale 29 (lot 2120). The Ballaarat Cricket Club was founded in 1856. The oval was recognised as one of the finest in Australia. 'Those of our denomination in Australia who are looking forward to the centenary of Congregationalism in 1933 will be interested in an illustration of the medal that was struck at the time of the jubilee in 1883, which has only lately come to light. As will be seen, it is of conventional design, the central figure being intended for Moses, the lawgiver. The seven stars surrounding the upper part of the figure represent the six colonies of Australasia and New Zealand, which at that time was included. The bowl of burning incense and palm leaves have a scriptural meaning, but the nature of the plant on the right of the tablet is somewhat obscure.'

Eastwood, fully clothed and wearing heavy boots, jumped in and swam to Gardiner, who struggled violently, and Eastwood had great trouble in dealing with him. A strong westerly wind was blowing and the water was rough, with a strong current. Eastwood began to swim with Gardiner towards the wharf; Gardiner was still struggling and when 90 feet from the wharf Walter Tullberg jumped into the river and swam to them with a rope and pulled them to the wharf.

Elizabeth II, Royal Mint trial set of planchets for the 1967 decimal currency issue, undated (1966), for one cent, two cents, five cents, ten cents, twenty cents (2) and fifty cents. Uncirculated and very rare. (7)

$750

Ex Noble Numismatics Sale 78 (lot 3847) (W.H. Lampard Collection) and previously from Ray Harwood c.1984. With ticket and typed notes from Harwood stating that they were produced by the Royal Mint, London for the N.Z. Decimal Currency Board in 1966. He also states that two sizes were considered for the 20c coin. All coins are uniform with the Royal Mint logo on the obverse and denominations on the reverse. The one and two cents have plain edges and the other coins have milling as per the currency issue. The set differs quite markedly from the John J. Pittman set (lot 5210 of his sale), (see Noble Numismatics sale 72, lot 514, sold for $2200). The Pittman set was probably an earlier trial and included the one dollar coin. The one and two cents have no denomination (two obverses) and the five and ten cent planchets have a plain obverse. The figures on the 5c, 10c and 50c are also of a different style to this set. The Pittman set has no milling to any of the pieces, other than the 20c which is the same design as the rejected sized piece in the this set.

$2,500

Lot comes with a Baldwin ticket marked 3, Robert St, Adelphi, London. Spink notes that on the 12th February 1483, the cinquefoil coinage of Edward IV came to an end and an indenture between the king and the new mint master Bartholomew Reed saw the introduction of the sun and rose mintmark. Edward IV died on April 9, 1483 and the mint mark continued through the reign of Edward V and the start of the reign of Richard III. Reed's indenture contract ended 20th July 1483 which saw his replacement Robert Brackenbury with his boar's head mintmark. Richard III accession took place on June 26th 1483. Clearly the sun and rose mintmark covers the end of Edward IV and all the reign of Edward V.

$800

In his book 'The Japanese Occupation of Malaya (Singapore) and its Currency', Wong Hon Sum outlines the circumstances of this interesting rarity. 'The British forces began air dropping these leaflets over Malaya and Singapore in late 1944 or early 1945 and the Japanese had not surrendered by then. As such, the people were afraid to be caught in possession of these leaflets, resulting in their rarity today. The Malay words WANG JEPUN AKAN MATI BERSAMA2 JEPUN written obliquely across the face of the note mean 'The Japanese invasion money will perish with the demise of the Japanese'. The back of the leaflet carries notices in Malay, Jawi and Chinese printed in red. The Chinese version reads: 'The Japanese had been driven out of Burma and their invasion notes had been annulled. But the British Burmese currency is still legal tender. When the British return to Malaya, the Straits currency will retain its value, but the Japanese invasion currency will perish together with the demise of the Japanese'. These leaflets were printed by the British Psychological Warfare Division in Calcutta, and there is a serial number at the bottom of the Jawi text on its back - SMA/39.

The siege of the city of Leyden (Leiden) in the Netherlands resulted in the depletion of the supply of silver for coins and thus emergency coinage was instigated. This siege money was issued initially on clipped diamond shaped planchets using the die of the 1574 coin as offered above but when silver was exhausted paper was used in the form of cardboard with exactly the same design as the 1574 twenty stuiver. See Noble Numismatics Sale 87 lot 2960 for an emergency paper issue of this design.

Boordgeld (board-money/ship money) consisted of metal and paper tokens issued by many Dutch shipping lines from 1946 through the mid-1970s. These tokens were used because of post war restrictions on foreign exchange and also to have a uniform system of currency because of the problems of many non-Dutch crew members trying to convert foreign currency tendered by passengers. On boarding passengers exchanged their currency for the ship board tokens (Boordgeld) which were the only form of currency accepted on board Dutch ships. Paper tokens were issued initially but later withdrawn and replaced by the metallic tokens.

$100

Starobielsk, Ostaszew and Kosielski were Russian POW camps housing mainly Polish military officers, policemen and civilian prisoners. The Kosielski prisoners were massacred at Katyn forest in 1940 by the Soviet NKVD and simultaneous executions were held of prisoners from the other camps. Those murdered comprised many of Poland's elite and were the ones most likely to oppose the imposition of communism on Poland. Ironically on 10 April 2010 many of Poland's current elite, including the President Lech Kaczynski and the First Lady, were killed in an airline crash in the forests near Smolensk in Russia near the Belarus border while on their way to attend a remembrance ceremony for the Katyn victims. The disastrous event has been labelled Katyn 2. With research.

$500

In contemporary leatherette fitted case. A medal to commemorate the opening of the railway line from Pretoria in ZAR to Delagoa Bay in Mozambique. By Johan Philip Mathias Menger, head engraver at the Royal Mint in Utrecht, Holland. Refer to Hern 16, Africana Museum 5 and Numismata Africana 1652-1952, p.24-25. The railway line was of great strategic importance to the ZAR fulfilling Kruger's ambition to enable trade between the ZAR and the rest of the world independently of Britain, especially in relation to gold export and the importation of arms.

These Hunnic imitations of Sassanian coins are known from a small number of specimens and are rarely seen for sale. This example has completely corrupt Pahlavi letters on obverse and reverse, and probably from the slightly later period of c.600 A.D. The Hephthalites or White Huns were a Central Asian nomadic confederation whose precise origins and composition remain obscure. They were called Ephthalites by the Huns, and Hunas by the Indians. They were mentioned by the Chinese and they displaced the Scythians and conquered Sogdiana and Khorasan before 425. After that, they crossed the Syr Darya (Jaxartes) River and invaded Persia. In Persia, they were initially held off by Bahram Gur but later around A.D. 483-85, they succeeded in making Persia a tributary state. After a series of wars in the period around A.D. 503-513, they were driven out of Persia and were completely defeated in A.D. 557 by Khosru I though their polity came under the Gokturks thereafter. The White Huns also invaded the regions of Afghanistan and Pakistan and succeeded in extending their domain to include the Ganges Valley where this coin was made.

The issue is said to have been struck under authority of a certain Captain Scott of Tanjore after the British captured Negapatam in 1781. They thus became known as 'Scott's Pagoda' or Iskat-Pagoda. The obverse of the rude representation of a single standing deity is derived from the Negapatam issues of the Dutch struck after 1662, which in itself is derived from a Vijayanagar prototype. Pridmore did not recognise the type but is known in India as the Iskat-Pagoda. Scholten notes the fineness of these pagodas as 0.625 - 0.635. The Dr. Lawrence Brilliant specimen struck from same or very similar dies (lot 616) realised US$1,100 in Spink-Taisei Sale 9.

Pitchfork Collection, Noble Numismatics Sale 48 (lot 1980) with ticket. The granulated reverse was apparently copied from the Dutch Negapatam pagoda c.1678-1679. The type continued to be struck at the Madras mint until the introduction of the star pagoda in 1740. Many varieties occur and they circulated under several names. A similar piece was in the Dr. Lawrence Brilliant Collection (Spink-Taisei Sale 9, lot 605).

King's Police Medal (GVR), for Gallantry. P.C. (C.I.D.) John Rutherford Metropolitan Police. Engraved. Extremely fine.

Detective Constable John Rutherford Metropolitan Police. L G 01Jan1924 'At about 10.30pm on 28th July 1922, Constable Rutherford while off duty, was in the saloon bar of the 'Red Bull' Public House, Grays Inn Road, when six men entered, three of whom he knew belonging to a local gang known as the 'Camden Town Gang'. As the men entered, members of a rival gang, already inside the pub, moved towards them and forced them into the street. The Constable followed, and saw one man fire a revolver. Most of the men were carrying firearms, and as the two gangs went down Portpool Lane followed by the Constable, several shots were fired in his direction. One of the leaders shouted, 'Go back Rutherford' and fired a shot at him. Constable Rutherford caught the man, who said 'Go away or I'll do it again'. Rutherford then knocked the man down, took his revolver, and arrested him'.

KPM L G 01Jan1919 pg 114 'This officer has been employed throughout his service in the Special Branch where he has worked untiringly, and undeterred by the fact that he witnessed the assassination of one of his brother officers. He is an officer of great tact, ability and courage, and his work has led in many instances to the arrest of some of the most desperate absconders of the revolutionary party'. Bar to KPM L G 01Jan1934 pg 15 'On 22nd May 1933, on receipt of secret information that some known desperate terrorists were in concealment in a house in Cornwallis Street, a composite police party under the command of Rai Ban Behari Mukherji Bahadur, Officiating Deputy Commissioner of Police, Special Branch, proceeded to the spot. On nearing the room where the absconders were in hiding, one of them opened fire and wounded an officer of the Intelligence Branch. Despite a heavy revolver duel between the Police and the absconders, Rai Ban Behari Mukherji Bahadur stuck to his post and successfully arrested the absconders. The whole of the arrangements made in connection with the search had been made by this officer. The three absconders arrested - Dinesh Mazundar, Nalini Das and Jagadananda Mukharji - are extremely desperate characters'. Both awards have excellent citations for anti-terrorist work and duties in relation to the control of the revolutionary movement. This medal would constitute a significant addition to a collection in particular Indian Police and especially the Bengal Province and the active terrorist movement in that Province. Edwin Alfred John Barnes, M.B.E. Senior Inspector Aden Police Force. Grounds of Recommendation for award of the King's Police Medal - Mr Barnes entered the Aden Police Force in December 1893. His record has been unblemished, as a Police Inspector he has always done his duties to the entire satisfaction of everyone, however his main use in Aden has been that of a confidential agent to the Residency. Having lived in Aden all his life he has obtained a unique personal knowledge of not only the local population but a large majority of the people who come to Aden either for business or passing through and has acquired a full knowledge of Arabic and Somali often being called upon to perform various duties requiring energy, intelligence, tact and trustworthiness and he has in every case shown that he possessed those qualities. In the early days of the war Inspector Barnes did valuable work in organising the Coolie Corps. Subsequently he has been the means of settling many labour difficulties and was also employed in the raising of the first two hundred men for the local labour corps. It was on account of his qualifications deputed especially for duty with the troops which attacked and took Sheikh Said in November 1914 and was present with the troops throughout these operations. Subsequently he was sent to Khor Omeria after the Arabs had fired on the boards of H.M.S.'Dufferin'. Though no result accrued at the time it was due to his influence that the Sheikh subsequently came into Aden and the situation was cleared. He has exhibited conspicuous devotion to duty and his services in connection with the war have been of a political and very special nature. MBE L G 03Jun1927 No.33280 pg 3617. The struggle continued however, and Dhanna Singh managed to explode a Mill's bomb which was concealed on his person, thereby killing himself and five police officers on the spot and fatally injuring three others, including Mr Horton. Mr Jenkin was very seriously wounded, and, after about six months in hospital, where he underwent numerous operations, he has been sent to England on a years leave. Capt Cyril Leslie Dunn, I.A. Assistant Commandant Burma Military Police. KPM Gazette of India 01Jan1930 'This officer was in command of a party of Military Police from Loimwe that took action against a Muhso Hkunli (Pretender) who having collected armed followers was defying law and order in the Kengtung State in the Southern Shan States. The Assistant Superintendent in charge, having been unsuccessful in his efforts to make the Hkunli see reason and give up his warlike attitude was forced to call upon Captain Dunn and his party to attack the Hkunli and his followers in their bulletproof fort. It is reported that this fort must have taken years to complete, that is was perfect in its structure and its disposition and that special trenches had been dug for greater protection during rifle fire and for masking of men in case of an attack over the top. Owing to the disposition of the fort Captain Dunn was only able to make a reconnaissance from a ridge six miles away and found that the position could only be attacked from two sides. It was by this skilful reconnaissance (as there was no information available as to strength, etc., of the Hkunli's followers) that Captain Dunn was able to make his plan of attack so that the fort was eventually taken without casualties and the Hkunli and his followers were forced to flee. It is reported that the Hkunli and many of his followers were killed. The operations commenced on 9th March 1929 and ended on the 27th April 1929.' With some research.

After being posted in various districts as Assistant Superintendent, he was appointed to Agra in 1909 and was for seven years in charge of the police of this important district. His work was distinguished and was regularly acknowledged by Government. In 1916 he was appointed Assistant to the Inspector General. He received the title of M.B.E. in January 1919 in recognition of his services. He was later employed as Secretary to the Hunter Commission and was created a C.I.E. in 1922. In 1923 he was appointed a Deputy Inspector General of Police and acted Inspector General for six months in 1928. He is at present in charge of the C.I.D. where he has shown conspicuous ability and initiative. KPM L D 01Jan1931 pg 16. Jemadar Raz Muhammad Khan and Naik Lal Din whilst serving at Manji Post of the Frontier Constabulary effected a most gallant rescue of a villager named Umar Khan, son of Mir Khan, of village Ragnazi, who was in danger of drowning in the Gomal River. 'On the 25th July 1929, an old man Umar Khan went to the bed of the Gomal River to collect driftwood and was cut off by the river which suddenly came down in a spate. For two days and nights he remained marooned on a sandbank just clear of the water. The local police and villagers had made repeated attempts and were unsuccessful in their attempts to reach the man. None of the local people, themselves strong swimmers, knowing the currents and the treacherous nature of the river dared attempt to swim the flood. The river at the joint where Umar Khan was cut off was some 200 yards in width and was over seven feet deep. The sandbank on which the man was stranded was equidistant from both banks. The chief obstacles were the treacherous nature of the river which is full of quicksands and whirlpools and the force of the current is swift and strong. On the third day the man was in danger of succumbing to hunger and exhaustion, the villagers came to Manjhi Post for assistance. On hearing of Umar Khans plight Jemadar Khan and Naik Din at once left for the river bank. Both are strong swimmers but realised full well the risks they ran of themselves drowning. Despite this they swam out with the aid of an inflated bullock skin and with great difficulty managed to bring the old man to safety. Both the rescuers displayed gallantry of the highest order. Neither of them belonged to this locality so they had no interest in the rescued man and might well have copied the example of his friends in declining to risk the passage. The Gomal River has claimed many victims including men of the Frontier Constabulary so there were plenty of reasons for deterring the men. They are to be congratulated on what most people would have considered a humanly impossible feat. It is noteworthy that Jemadar Khan has previously been commended for saving life'. At about 3.15am on 21st May 1942, a Canadian soldier stationed in Surrey, stole a Thomson machine gun and a revolver from the armoury at his depot, and then held up the picket at the transport park, and stole a lorry, and headed for London. Cordons were set up across the main road at Bagshot and also at Egham, but the man drove straight through both of them. Constables Lindsell and Salter were directed to set up a road block at Staines Bridge, West London, and with Constables Carpenter and Grant they waited. When the lorry approached, Constable Lindsell switched on the headlights of his car, blinding the fugitive, causing him to swerve into the kerb. Constables Carpenter and Grant jumped up onto the cab of the lorry and disarmed the soldier before he could use any of the weapons. Constable Lindsell had sat in the car in the middle of the road, knowing that the lorry had already been driven through two cordons. C.Carpenter, G.S.Grant, P.H.Salter were all awarded a K.P.M. for this incident.

Lance-Bombardier Gordon Joseph McAllister; Enl.11Mar1940 Darwin; Disch.03Oct1945. GM L G 24Aug1945, C of A Gazette 28Aug1945 'On the night of 27th/28th January the Danmap River burst into flood, sweeping away its banks and isolating several parties of troops on newly formed islands. Lance-Bombardier McAllister immediately organised a party of six men and commenced rescue operations. Having no success in attempts to throw rescue lines to the isolated men he improvised a life line of signal wire and with this strapped to his belt, unhesitatingly entered the water regardless of the violence of the flood and the danger of being overwhelmed by logs and debris sweeping downstream. By this means he made six crossings of the stream, saving the lives of six comrades. By his initiative and courage Lance-Bombardier McAllister was directly responsible for saving the lives of men who would otherwise have been drowned; his doggedness and tenacity in continuing the work for over three hours as an example to the other members of the rescue party who gave him every assistance'. There is an MID emblem attached to the ribbon of the Vietnam Medal but there is no record of any entitlement to this award for Cpl Barnes. Corporal Ernest William Barnes, Safety Equipment Worker; served in Vietnam 19Nov1968 - 20Nov1969 with No.35 Sqn, nicknamed Wallaby Airlines, which operated DHC-04 Caribous flying out of Vung Tau airfield. While in Vietnam this squadron set new standards for Caribou flying, maintenance and safety. Receiving little recognition in Australia, the squadron played an outstanding and vital role in supplying allied forces. The U.S. Command, being unable to achieve the same level of performance from its own units, requested additional Caribou squadrons from the Australian Government. This request was denied as Australia only had two such squadrons, the one already in Vietnam and one required for home service. Safety Equipment Worker (SEW) trade training encompassed flying clothing aspects and included parachute and lifecraft courses. These workers maintained all safety and survival equipment for the aircraft.

MM 29 Nov 1945 (5790), Recommendation by Lt Col C Shuttleworth, CO 24 NZ Battalion, approved by Lt Gen B.C.Freyberg, Commanding 2NZEF; 'This soldier was an outstanding despatch rider in Greece until he was seriously injured in an accident during a night move. He recovered in time to rejoin the Battalion for the campaign in Libya in November 1941. He again rendered outstanding service as a despatch rider, in spite of the pain caused by his previous injuries, until he was physically incapable of riding his motorcycle. He was then employed as a linesman in which capacity he again rendered valuable service. On the occasion of an enemy attack on the Battalion position at Sidi Rezegh on 28 November, he repaired the line from the Battalion Signal Centre to the Observation Post under heavy small arms and artillery fire. Although five officers had been killed or wounded in this locality, he undertook the duty at a time when fire was particularly heavy and completed it in entire disregard of the danger to which he was exposing himself.' DFM (Immediate Award jointly with 745760 Sergeant E.A.R.Leavers), LG 23/5/41, Air 2/8752 Recommendation (21st April 1941): 'Sergeant Leavers and Sergeant Overheu were the pilot and Observer respectively of the leading aircraft of a section detailed to attack a large enemy convoy on 18th April, 1941. Sergeant Leavers displayed great determination and good leadership in the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire in giving his section a good tactical run-up to the target and his Observer, Sergeant Overheu, displayed considerable skill and coolness in scoring two direct hits on a large ship in the convoy. After delivering his attack, Sergeant Leavers saw the leader of No.2 Section shot down in flames. He immediately gathered together two of the other aircraft and brought his section on the formation leader. On 31st March, 1941, this crew successfully attacked an enemy destroyer escorting a convoy of 13 ships. Sergeant Leavers pressed home his attack and whilst his Observer scored two direct hits on the destroyer with his bombs, the pilot raked the deck with his machine gun, many of the ship's crew being seen to fall. After bomb release, Sergeant Leavers was so low that he had to lift his port wing to avoid collision with the mast of the destroyer. After the attack, the destroyer was observed to be slewed round and was listing badly to port with black smoke pouring from the stern. This crew has now completed 16 sorties involving 57 hours flying during which their teamwork as a crew has been of a very high standard. Their attacks have always been pressed home with great determination and they have always brought back the maximum information, supplemented whenever possible by good photographs. I recommend the immediate award of the Distinguished Flying Medal to these two N.C.O.s because I notice that in sortie after sortie, they have set a magnificent example to the other members of the squadron and, indeed, the day bomber force, many of whom have only recently started operational flying, requiring a high standard of determination and morale.' Ian Overheu, commercial traveller, born 28Jul1917 Geraldton, Western Australia, ran away from home to study engineering at Sydney University before going to NZ; joined RNZAF Mar1940; served with RAF No 21 Blenheim Sqn; 21Apr1941 recommended for immediate award of DFM, approved; in an article in The Argus newspaper, Saturday May 24, 1941 p.5 under heading 'Hope Dad's Pleased' / Perth Airman's Decoration, Sgt-Observer Overheu said, 'I hope father is pleased with the award. We had a family dispute and I left. I want to return to sheep farming after the war.'; KIA 16Jun1941 when his aircraft hit the mast of the vessel he was attacking and crashed into the sea off the Frisian Islands. Up until then this aircraft, Blenheim V6034, and its crew had earned a reputation for showing outstanding courage in low-level attacks on enemy shipping; no known grave, commemorated on Runnymede Memorial. Together with Memorial Scroll; telegram dated 17Jun1941 to Mrs Overheu re death of husband; letter dated 18Jun1941 from RAF Record Office confirming details in telegram; letter from Central Chancery of the Orders of Knighthood dated 27Feb1942 requesting Mrs Overheu's attendance at Buckingham Palace to receive her husband's DFM from the King; large b&w photo of Sgt Overheu wearing DFM ribbon and with his wife, written on the back 'Taken on a visit to London / during Ian's last leave in / May 1941. / Reported Missing June 17th 1941 / (signed) Margaret Overheu'; case for Memorial Cross; plus some research.

ANCIENT GOLD COINS

GREEK

Sicily, Syracuse, Reign of Hiketas, (288-279 B.C.), gold decadrachm, (4.25 grams), obv. head of Persephone to left, with hair rolled and wreathed with corn, poppy behind, ΘΕ below neck, to left ΣΥΡΑΚΟΣΙΩΝ, rev. galloping biga driven to right by Nike, crescent above, Θ below, ΕΠΙ ΙΚΕΤΑ in exergue (cf.S.978, Buttrey, [Num. Chron. 1973], 2-D, SNG Fitz. 1362 [same dies]). Extremely fine and very rare.

$12,500

Little is known of Hiketas beyond his coinage, but Buttrey in Morgantina Studies 'The Coins' pieced together a history based on the numismatic evidence. Following Hiketas's defeat of Phintias, tyrant of Akragas, he set out against the Carthaginians. This campaign ended in disaster at the Terias river, northwest of Syracuse. Buttrey, based on his die analysis, concludes that this gold issue was struck very hurriedly towards the end of Hiketas's reign, and theorizes that this series was issued to pay for his Carthaginian campaign.

Thrace, Kingdom of, Lysimachos, (323-281 B.C.), gold stater, (8.25 grams), Callatis mint, posthumous issue c.88-86 B.C., obv. diademed head of Alexander the Great to right, wearing horn of Ammon, rev. Athena enthroned to left, holding Nike and resting left arm on shield, transverse spear resting against right side to right, to right ΒΑΣΙΛΕΩΣ, to left ΑΥΣΙΜΑΧΟΥ, HPO monogram below arm, ΚΑΛ on throne, trident below in exergue, (cf.S.6813, M.261, SNG Cop.1089). Good very fine with several light scratches on the obverse.

$1,500

This lot comes from an important hoard of Greek gold staters from the time of the Mithradatic War (88-86 B.C.). They were issued by Mithradates VI of Pontus who used the design of the famous issues of Lysimachos two centuries earlier. These staters with the head of Alexander the Great linked him to Alexander, history's greatest conqueror. At the age of 18, Mithradates embarked on a career of conquest, bringing most of the lands around the Black Sea under his control. These policies brought him into conflict with Rome and he consequently tried to liberate the East from Rome and quickly defeated the local garrisons and massacred every Roman citizen in Asia (some 80,000 in one night). Athens welcomed him as a liberator, but the Roman response came in 87 B.C. The Consul L. Sulla with five legions captured Athens and pursued Mithradates back to Asia Minor. Mithradates was fined 2000 talents (600,000 gold staters) and returned to Pontus. These gold staters were probably struck during his campaign in Thrace in late 88 to early 87 B.C. to pay his mercenary soldiers. Three cities struck these coins. Alternatively the view has been put forward suggesting that these coins were issues by Brutus in the Civil War of 44-42 B.C. See Celator, January 2000 (pp. 22-24). This may still prove to be the correct interpretation.

Thrace, Kingdom of, Lysimachos, (323-281 B.C.), gold stater, (8.33 grams), Callatis mint, posthumous issue c.88-86 B.C., obv. diademed head of Alexander the Great to right, wearing horn of Ammon, rev. Athena enthroned to left, holding Nike and resting left arm on shield, transverse spear resting against right side to right, to right ΒΑΣΙΛΕΩΣ, to left ΑΥΣΙΜΑΧΟΥ, HP monogram below arm, ΚΑΛ on throne, trident below in exergue, (cf.S.6813, M.266, SNG Cop.1089). Extremely fine and virtually as struck.

Thrace, Kingdom of, Coson, (c.42 B.C.), gold stater, (8.426 grams), Northern Greece mint, obv. three togate figures advancing to left, the first and third carrying an axe over left shoulder, ΚΟΣΩΝ in exergue, without Brutus monogram to left, rev. eagle standing to left on sceptre, holding wreath in one claw, (S.1733, RPC I 1701B, BMC 2, Winkler 1-3). Good extremely fine and virtually as struck, slightly off centred both sides, scarce.

$1,400

The Coson coinage was struck around 42 B.C., when Brutus, the exiled assassin of Julius Caesar, was raising troops in northern Greece in preparation for the final confrontation with Caesar's heirs Mark Antony and Octavian. Brutus had his own travelling mint, but this coinage was evidently a gift from an allied Dacian king from the lower Danube region. The king's name Coson appears on the coin and Brutus' name is reduced to a monogram which appears on some issues, including this example. Coson's coin type makes sense in terms of Roman propaganda. The eagle trampling a sceptre and the wreath symbolizes the anti-monarchical sentiments that prompted Caesar's assassination. The obverse type showing a Roman magistrate with his attendants, is copied from the coinage struck by Brutus himself in 54 B.C. It depicts an ancestor of Brutus who overthrew the Tarquin kings and founded the Roman Republic, serving as its first chief magistrate. This design thus serves to emphasize Brutus' attachment to the Republican traditions. The find of early electrum as a foundation deposit in the earliest temple at Ephesus included numerous third staters of this type. It also contained some inscribed electrum coins with the non-Greek name 'Welwet'. Scholars began identifying this name with Alyattes, king of Lydia. Since then this attribution has been thrown into doubt by the more recent discovery of a parallel name, 'Kagi', which does not correspond to any known Lydian king. No one really doubts, however that this prolific coinage was issued by the Lydian royal house. The lion's head was the dynastic badge, and this manner of representation, with the herringbone mane and 'wart' on nose, was introduced into Greek art from Assyria in the second half of the seventh century B.C. It is one of, if not the earliest example of ancient coinage that utilises a design of some type on the obverse. This example with an unusual number of banker's marks makes it even more interesting as an example of the earliest coins ever made.

$21,000

Ptolemy IV struck an extensive series of octadrachms for his father Ptolemy III, portraying him with the divine attributes of Helios (with the radiate diadem), Zeus (the aegis), and Poseidon (the trident and with the middle prong modified with the addition of the Egyptian lotus tip). The concentration of such symbols is intended to show Ptolemy III as the master of the three elements: heaven, earth and sea. The radiate crown above the cornucopiae on the reverse is another distinctive feature of Ptolemy III's iconography, and was later adopted by his grandson, Ptolemy V.

$1,600

The capture of Thasos in 463 BC by the Athenians after its revolt two years earlier could well have terminated the series of the late archaic and early classical staters. Between the years 435-411 the old satyr and nymph theme was revived, but the artistic style was very different. The rape of the nymph by a bestial satyr has become a 'fling' of a not unwilling lady in the arms of an almost human abductor. An admirable die engraving masterpiece at the apogee of the Greek high Classical artistic period, when Polykleitos of Argos was said to have been unsurpassed in making images of people, as Phidias was of gods. A similar example in the A. Tkalec auction of May 2009 (lot 29) struck from the same dies with similar flan cracks realised 6800 Swiss Francs at that sale.

A member city of the Ionian Dodekapolis, Teos was a thriving seaport with two fine harbours. It was the birthplace of Anacreon the poet, Hecateus the historian, Protagoras the sophist, Scythinus the poet, Andron the geographer, and Apellicon, the preserver of the works of Aristotle. When the Persians under Cyrus invaded circa 540 BC, many Teans fled, resettling in Abdera. The griffin was the badge of the city of Teos, and is present on the coins of both cities.

In 379 B.C. Pharnabazos, satrap in Bithynia was given the task of reconquering Egypt for the Persian Empire. Datames, satrap of Cappadocia was later appointed to assist him. To finance this undertaking large quantities of silver staters were struck at Tarsus. Datames was left in sole command of this campaign after Pharnabazos death in 374 B.C. A few years later he became involved in the revolt of the satraps against the Persian king. The obverse of this coin is derived from Kimon's Arethusa on the coinage of Syracuse.

Demetrios III held Damascus from 96/5-88/7 B.C., having secured this city for himself with the support of Ptolemy Lathyrus of Cyprus. Demetrios revived the Damascene coinage, (not issued since 104-3), retaining the practice of dating the coins (which had fallen into disuse at other mints). Instead of employing a Seleucid royal type, his coinage depicted the great Syrian goddess Atargatis. Like many Anatolian and north Syrian fertility gods, she is represented mummiform. She is covered with leaves or petals, as befits a vegetation deity, and on her chest, as Newell suspected is a facing head, perhaps an anthropomorphic solar symbol.

The ancient city of Zeugma, was founded in 300 B.C. by Seleucos Nikator, one of the generals of the Alexander the Great. At that time the city was named after the general and called 'Seleukia on the Euphrates.' The population of the city was approximately 80,000. In 64 B.C. Zeugma was conquered and ruled by Rome and with this shift the name of the city was changed to Zeugma, in Greek meaning 'bridge-passage.' During Roman rule, the city became a regional centre, as the city of Zeugma was on the silkroad connecting Antioch to China with its own quay on the river Euphrates. In 256 A.D. Zeugma was destroyed by the Sasanian King, Sapur I and his invasion was so devastating that Zeugma was unable to recover for many years. In the summer of 2000, this city, one of the great frontier cities of the Roman Empire, all but disappeared under the flood waters of a dam. The Turkish government over the past twenty years had built a series of dams on the Euphrates river. This coin, an issue towards the end of the city's importance, is countermarked with an eagle, which significance is unknown. Several examples of this coinage are known with this countermark.

The shekels and half shekels of Tyre are of special interest as Jews had to pay an annual sum to the Jerusalem Temple of one half shekel and the only acceptable money was the shekel of Tyre. These were widely available in Jerusalem and well known for their true weight and good silver. It is also believed that the 'thirty pieces of silver' paid to Judas consisted of these Tyre shekels. The helmet on the reverse has been the subject of much comment. Initially called by Madden in 1864 a vessel, others like Kindler in 1974 refer to it as a thymaterion (an incense burner). Meshorer and Hendin in more recent times called it a helmet. Its confirmation as a helmet was shown by Hendin in the Israel Numismatic Journal Vol.11 1990-1 in which a superb specimen clearly showed a wreathed helmet with a large leaf as a central device. Thus the object is a soldier's helmet with a wreath, cheek pieces and straps. Leaves on helmets were a suitable symbol and design motif at this time as Herod I did not depict human images on any of his coins.

The diadem with cross is a well known symbol for royalty. The hint of the interpretation of this symbol is provided in the Babylonian Talmud. (Kerithoth 5,2 'Our rabbis have taught: 'In anointing kings one draws the figure of a crown (diadem) and with the priest in the shape of the letter chi' (cross).'). This symbolism is similar to a group of the coins issued by Herod. Herod was not a priest but may have used his coinage to describe symbolically the co-operation between the kingship (the diadem) and the priesthood (chi or cross). The coins probably indicate the removal of the high priesthood from the hands of the previous dynasty by Herod and the subsequent investiture of a priest under government control. Consequently Herod had some association with the priesthood.

Ardashir in holding his new territories took the above title as seen on this coin. To legitimize his seizure of the throne, he married one of the Arsacid princesses. In addition he claimed descent from the Persian king Darius, and tried to recreate the great Achaemenid Empire. He invaded the Roman province of Syria in 230 A.D. and provoked the young emperor, Severus Alexander. The two armies met in 232 A.D., in a battle in which both sides sustained such heavy losses such that each was compelled to withdraw. The removal of the Roman forces allowed Ardashir to consolidate his new holdings in Armenia. At his death in 240 A.D., Ardashir had established a new and significant threat to the Roman east. With his defeat and capture of Valerian his son, and successor, Shahpur I, became an even greater menace to the Roman east.

It has been noted that this coin is highly unusual in that it lacks the letters S C, which designates an issue by decree of the Senate (Senatus Consulto). From Republican times, the formula had been used on both silver and bronze coinage, but under the Empire, it was used almost exclusively on the bronze coinage. In fact, imperial bronze coinage without the formula is generally thought to have been issued under special circumstances and under an authority other than the Senate. The ADLOCVT(io) COH(ortium) sestertii are thought to have been a special distribution issue for the Praetorian Guard personally funded out of the emperor's own purse.

Julius Caesar recognized the value of expanding Rome's port facilities at Ostia, but it was Claudius who began actual building it in 42 AD. As part of the construction, one of Caligula's pleasure galleys was scuttled and filled with cement where above it was constructed a lighthouse surmounted by a statue of Neptune. Although the actual date of completion is not certain, it must have occurred shortly before this sestertius was minted in 64 A.D.. A further expansion of the facilities was required under Trajan and Hadrian. By the fourth century, however, the port's importance began to diminish as a result of silting. Soon the region became a breeding ground for malaria and was abandoned.

Etruscan, 7th century B.C., Bucchero earthenware, olpe, inscribed below 'Found at Nola (Campania) bt (bought) of Lawrence Dec. 1896, P.1403'. Very fine.

$800

Ex Mark and Susan Marshan Collection with certificate, it was acquired from the Pitt-Rivers Museum. The famous Bucchero earthenware which is most often associated with the Etruscans, became common between about the 7th and early 5th century B.C. Characteristically, the ware is black, sometimes gray, and often shiny from polishing. The colour was achieved by firing in an atmosphere charged with carbon monoxide instead of oxygen. This is known as a reducing firing, and it converts the red of the clay, due to the presence of iron oxide, to the typical bucchero colours.

Etruscan, 7th-6th century B.C., Bucchero earthenware, large oinochoe with inscribed incuse decoration around the vessel, (height 290mm). Very fine and rare.

$1,000

A vase with a short globular body and continuous curve from mouth to foot, a high neck with a slightly flaring lip and trefoil mouth, a vertical looped handle which may rise above the lip, and a low foot. Through literary sources and artistic representations, it is known that the oinochoe was used for ladling and pouring wine, as well as serving as a grave offering. The famous Bucchero earthenware which is most often associated with the Etruscans, became common between about the 7th and early 5th century B.C. Roman, a glass jug, (2nd - 3rd century A.D.), clear to light green opaque glass, (height 143 mm.), with globular body ornate broad vertically ribbed handle and open lip. Very fine, scarce.

$400

During the second and third centuries A.D., the novelty of owning glass disappeared as glassware became more affordable. Therefore, a number of table and storage wares became popular and abundant, including plates, dishes, bowls, beakers, cups, bottles, jars and jugs. During the fourth century AD, the style of jars and jugs changed, taking on exceedingly long necks (although ours is somewhat moderate) and pronounced funnel rims, which can be seen in this example. Decoration on these household items was usually limited to spiralling threads or random blobs, either in the same colour as the vessel or in contrasting royal blue or turquoise blue glass (as in this example). This jug has the decorative style of 'snake-thread' ware. The thread, in the same colour as the rest of the jug, spirals gracefully around the body and neck.

5020*

Bronze Thracian/Macedonian Tatar, fertility bracelet, (15 - 17th Cen. A.D.), (height 62mm, diameter 66mm). Very fine.

$100

Macedonian and Bulgarian women on their wedding day would wear this bracelet (to ensure fertility) until birth of the first born child. This tradition was passed down from ancient Thracian times, (c.500 B.C.). In addition between the two protruding breasts would be the holy cross asking for Gods fertility blessing.
